

HEADSTONE MANOR & MUSEUM

A message from.... Bill the Duck!

Well folks, that's the whole of Harrow's history very quickly covered in our tour of the Manor House! But it won't be the last you see of me. Keep an eye out for the Detective Bill posts (you can find old posts on the museum's website!) and I think I'm going to take a few trips around Harrow and learn a bit more about its history - watch this space!

I hope you've enjoyed the tour of the museum, and as soon as we're open again come and say hello! I'll probably be swimming on the moat, but there's always lots of friendly human museum people who will answer any of your questions. Maybe you'll even see Margery...

See you all soon! 🖐️

Can you believe it? We've covered the whole Museum!

Thanks for coming on the tour with me,
I hope you enjoyed seeing my home!

But this isn't the end! Harrow's history is being made every day, by each and every one of us!
What's next for me? Maybe I'll write a book about a duck's life in Harrow!
Margery says she'll keep learning more about the Manor House!
What's next for you?
