

Indoor Bingo!

Detective Bill has a new challenge for Headstone History Detectives to complete! He has created a new indoor BINGO card for you. Find all the objects around your home, and then look out for activities for each item you find coming up soon. They might seem like ordinary items, but they are all connected to the history of Harrow!

The first thing to find on our list is a window! Most windows are very plain and simple, some special windows are very bright and colourful. These are called stained glass windows, have you ever seen windows like this? What type of buildings often have them?

Harrow used to have a factory called Whitefriars, the people in the factory were some of the best stained-glass makers in the world. Have a look at these beautiful windows!
